Parents

- Trick-or-treaters should go out during daylight hours unless accompanied by an adult.
- Know the route your child will travel and give him or her a curfew.
- Be sure children can see through their masks. Costumes should be easy to see – either made from light colors or marked with reflective tape for walking at night.
- Make sure that children have a snack so they are less likely to eat candy before you are able to thoroughly check it.
- Inspect all candy thoroughly before eating.
- Although tampering is rare, dispose of unwrapped treats or candy that appear altered.
- Make sure your children have access to a phone so they can call home if needed.

- Don't eat anything from your trick-or-treat bag before your parents have looked at it.
- Always stay with people you know, and stay in your neighborhood.
- Make sure to tell your parents where you are trick-or-treating, and stay away from dark streets and buildings.
- Never get into cars or go into houses of people you don't know.
- Be sure to look both ways before crossing a street, and always obey traffic signals.
- Don't approach or pet animals that you don't know.
