Distributing Groceries and PPE in Park Hill

Food insecurity is an issue that continues to impact too many households across Staten Island. I partnered with my colleague Senator Diane Savino, Project Hospitality, Council of Jewish Organizations of Staten Island, to secure nearly 200 boxes of groceries to Park Hill Residents. Along with the boxes of food we also handed out masks, hand sanitizer and literature with Covid-19 test and trace information. A special thank you is owed to Project Hospitality, and Council of Jewish Organizations of Staten Island, the African Community Alliance of Staten Island, the Empowerment Zone and NYC Health + Hospitals for working to get food on more tables during these difficult times.

Updates From Albany

I co-sponsored the Stock Transfer Tax legislation to bring an immediate revenue source into the state to address Post-COVID Recovery.

- A.3353; Repeals the rebates for stock transfer tax paid and dedicates funds of the stock transfer tax fund and stock transfer incentive fund to various funds.
- Commonly asked questions about the Stock Transfer Tax:
 - Q: What is the Stock Transfer Tax?
 - A: The Stock Transfer Tax is a ¼ of 1% sales tax on the transfer of stock and securities. It was in place from 1905, when it was enacted by the Republican Party, until 1980. It is still in statute, but we rebate 100% back to the brokers. Since 2008, New York State has rebated back over $130 billion to Wall Street.
 - Q: New York State has some of the highest taxes in the country, compared to other states – why do we need more taxes?
 - A: New York State has high taxes for a reason. We do not export our state tax burden to other states. Alaska, Oklahoma, and Texas all have an excise tax that goes into their state coffers. It is an average of 35% tax on their biggest exports (such as gas, oil). New York State residents subsidize their state budgets in so many ways, at the pump, heating our homes/hospitals/nursing homes, cooking our food, the list is endless. New York State's biggest export is the financial markets – which do not have a sales tax. In addition, New York State exports 20% of its federal tax benefits to pay for federal benefits to citizens of other states. This came about because we are a wealthier state and the federal government was redistributing money to poorer states.
 - Q: Won't Wall Street just leave New York State if we tax them?
 - A: This argument has been rendered moot by a Supreme Court ruling on internet sales tax. The seller does not need to have a physical presence in the state, but any activity in furtherance of the sale in the state creates a nexus in New York State. Additionally, New York State had this tax for 75 years and they did not move.
 - Q: Why do we need this tax?
 - A: New York State is experiencing falling traditional revenues and has done nothing to raise new revenue. We are currently facing a multi-billion-dollar budget shortfall. In 2019, the NYS issued a report stating NYS must increase its revenues. In addition, following a national trend, economic growth in our State has been concentrated in the centers of high tech and high finance. The tax can assure that some of the benefits of financial activity are more evenly spread out throughout the State.
 - Q: Will this impact middle-income New Yorkers' retirement accounts?
 - A: Opponents of the Stock Transfer Tax like to focus on the very small fraction of the tax that could be borne by the middle-income households with retirement savings, instead of focusing on those that would pay the vast majority of the tax – the very wealthy. The Stock Transfer Tax has an ancillary benefit of slowing down trading, by reducing unproductive trades, those not in the interest of investors and only purpose is to generate fees for financial institutions. In this case, households with retirement savings could see lower costs, rather than higher costs, resulting from a Stock Transfer Tax. Even if the Stock Transfer Tax does not affect trading volume, the impact on middle-income family's retirement plans would likely be extremely small. In theory, anyone owning stock indirectly through a mutual fund or other savings vehicle could be affected because the increased cost of trading assets would be passed onto them. A recent report from Public Citizen estimates the average retirement-related cost increase among the middle 20 percent of households, only 53 percent have retirement savings and for those households, the average cost increase would be $13 annually.

- Q: I have heard about the Stock Transfer Tax before; what makes your bill different?
- A: New York State has a massive infrastructure problem – and it is not going away. A.3353 directs the revenue raised by the Stock Transfer Tax into the following infrastructure: state highways and bridges, local roadways and local governments, the MTA, New York City Housing Authority, Amtrak, local water infrastructure, upstate and downstate transportation, as well as the Clean Energy Fund.
- Q: I thought legalizing marijuana and creating another wealth tax will solve the problem?
- A: Unfortunately, neither is an immediate solution. NYS simply cannot pursue the necessary improvements in its infrastructure without this tax. Legalizing marijuana will only raise approximately $300 million and the wealth tax is a direct tax solely on residents. The Stock Transfer Tax is an indirect tax and is predominantly borne by wealthy non-New York State and non-United States residents. Regardless, there is no other revenue stream that will bring in approximately $13 billion annually.

I have chosen to co-sponsor this legislation due to the drastic need to develop a quick response for a reliable and just revenue stream, a revenue stream that was once used and valued to the state's economy.

This legislation will assist in meeting our obligations to provide resources for education, infrastructure, housing, healthcare, mental health and persons with disabilities, while also supporting our non-profit partners who care for our most vulnerable citizens.

The NYS Assembly announced the creation of a Post-COVID Mass Transit Working Group. I sit on the Cities and Corporations, Authorities and Commission Committees.

- The working group will examine challenges that transit systems across the state are facing as a result of the public health crisis, which includes a dramatic drop in ridership.
- The Metropolitan Transportation Authority's (MTA) ridership dropped 63 percent from 2019 to 2020, and non-MTA transit systems also experienced ridership losses, some at levels of 50 percent or more.
- This has left these systems struggling, and many have been forced to reduce services as a result.
- Additionally, the working group will look at transit systems capital investment and operating needs, transit's impact on the economy and jobs, transit deserts in rural areas of the state, social equity and addressing climate change, and ways to help cities and local governments provide efficient transit services.

Critical Updates, New Policies, and Testing Locations to Protect You and Your Community

1. According to guidance from Governor Cuomo, sports and entertainment events in major stadiums and arenas with a capacity of 10,000 or more people can re-open with limited spectators beginning February 23.
2. New Yorkers with comorbidities and underlying conditions can begin making appointments at state-run mass vaccination sites. Excess vaccine supply meant for hospital workers can be used to open eligibility for New Yorkers with comorbidities and underlying conditions. Local health departments will determine how, where and when to schedule appointments in their jurisdictions.
 - To show they have comorbidities or underlying conditions, New Yorkers must provide documentation as required by the facility where they are getting vaccinated which must be either a doctor's letter, medical information evidencing comorbidity, or signed certification.

3. NYC Schools will welcome back blended learning students in grades 6-8 for in-person learning starting on Thursday, February 25. Middle school staff will return on Wednesday, February 24, to prepare for students' return. Here are the protocols to keep schools open:
 - Weekly Testing: All schools will have 20% of students and staff randomly tested on a weekly basis.
 - Student Consent: All students are required to provide consent for testing by their first scheduled in-person learning day. Families can submit consent using NYCSA or a paper form.
 - Staff Consent: All staff are required to provide consent by the first day they report to their school building. Staff can submit consent using the daily Health Questionnaire or using this paper form.
 - Situation Room: The Situation Room remains schools' main points of contact for any possible cases of COVID-19 in school buildings, and will continue to guide schools through any COVID-19 cases occurring in their buildings.
4. Effective March 15, marriage receptions can be held under limited state guidelines. Events must be approved by the local health department and there will be mandatory testing of all guests before an event. Capacity at weddings and receptions will be limited to no more than 150 people or no more than 50% of the venue's capacity, whichever is lower. All patrons must be tested prior to the event.
5. Eligible individuals can schedule vaccine appointments by contacting:
 - The NYC Vaccine hotline at 877-829-4692 or clicking here
