Protecting utility consumers

“At a time when New Yorkers are paying more and more to power and heat their homes, we need an advocate who will give us a voice and hold utility companies accountable.”

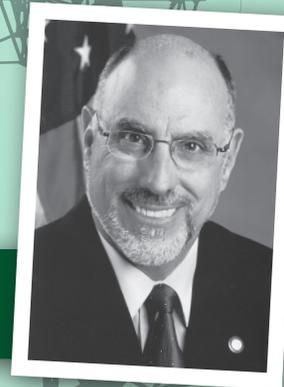

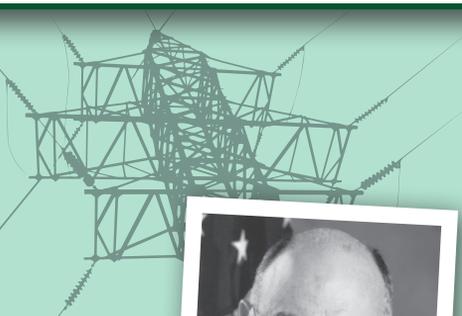

–Assemblyman Michael R. Benedetto

Assemblyman Benedetto is working to create a Utility Consumer Advocate

- The Utility Consumer Advocate (UCA) would be an independent voice for ratepayers, fighting against unfair utility rate increases (A.180).
- New Yorkers spend an estimated 56 percent more than the national average on electricity.*
- In other states with similar UCA offices, consumers have seen up to $243 saved for every dollar invested.
